Fun in the Sun: San Diego with Your Pet

By Stacey Wittig
Vagabonding LuluTravelWriter

Southern California calls with its famous beaches, surf and restaurants that started the farm to table movement. Eat, play and surf during a fun-in-the-sun getaway to San Diego where you and your four-legged friends are wholeheartedly welcomed.

Strolling around San Diego’s sunny Embarcadero and Seaport Village it’s easy to see how much San Diegans love their dogs. Well-behaved pups sit in the shade of their humans’ tables at many a chic restaurant patio. Joggers run through the cool sea air with trotting pooches in tow. San Diego’s canine culture is alive and well and makes for the perfect destination for you and your own globe-trotting pup.

You don’t have to feel guilty about leaving your pooch behind when going out to eat in San Diego. Both of you can hit the town to explore San Diego’s great eateries – many with pet-friendly patios. Couple that with San Diego’s famous weather – 266 days of sun per year – chances are high that patios will be open for your canine comfort. We enjoyed San Diego’s quintessential food – the iconic fish taco – at Pier Café perched at the harbor’s edge at Seaport Village. The pet-friendly patio fetched us seaside ambience, good food and fun conversation with other dog owners.

According to the author of The San Diego Brewery Guide, more than half of San Diego’s 100 brewery locations call themselves “dog friendly.” Try the fenced beer garden at Green Flash Brewing Company or Coronado Brewing Company that sells Brew Bones, dog treats made from spent grains (minus wheat and corn), a byproduct of the brewing process. I discovered and fell in love with Coronado Brewing Company’s Mermaid’s Red Ale during our travels last month.

The Hornblower harbor cruise is a must-do while you are in San Diego. If you arrange your getaway around the Hornblower’s annual “Pet Day on the Bay,” you may bring Fido onboard for the magical cruise. This year, pets and their owners gather on Saturday, April 30 to sail the high sea and bring towels and blankets to benefit homeless animals of the Helen Woodward Animal Center. Unfortunately, Pet Days on the Bay are the only days that you can bring your furry friend on the ship. However, the daily narrated tour with information about more than fifty San Diego landmarks and close-up views of military ships and the San Diego skyline is well worth placing Fido in doggie day care for the afternoon.

Get your toes and paws in the sand by visiting one of San Diego’s many dog-friendly beaches. Go off-leash at the North Beach Dog Run at Coronado with incredible views of the harbor. Tip: keep your pets leashed from the parking area to the run. Alternatively, play Frisbee or fetch at nationally-renowned Dog Beach, one of the first official off-leash beaches in the country. Located in the Ocean Beach neighborhood, this beach offers a 24/7 off-leash allowance. After a day at the beach, head to San Diego’s Gaslamp Quarter where you’ll find a multitude of dog-friendly restaurants.

Pinewood News
We are officially in the Arizona Monsoon so I thought a little information on that might be interesting to some of my readers. (I didn’t say Monsoon Season because Monsoon is a season.)

Here in Arizona, the monsoon is essentially a change in the weather pattern. We have winds that typically blow in from the west and south-west, keeping the state fairly dry. Around this time of year, however, the wind flow shifts. It starts to blow in from the east and southeast, dragging an unusual amount of moisture from the Gulf of Mexico into Arizona on its way up to the Four Corners.

When Arizona’s heat and overall unstable weather mixes with the moisture brought in by these winds, storms arise.

According to National Weather Service records that go back to 1896, the wettest monsoon was in 1984, when a total of 9.56 inches of rain fell. But the latest season to make the “Top 10 Wettest” list was in 2014, which came in seventh at 6.34 inches.

The driest monsoon on record was in 1924 — only 0.35 inches of rain fell. The most recent season on the “Top 10 Driest” list was in 2014, which came in seventh at 6.34 inches.

Thunderstorms and lightning

If you can hear thunder, then you are close enough to be struck by lightning.

Take shelter in a sturdy building or a hard-topped vehicle. You should remain in this shelter 30 minutes after hearing the last rumble of thunder.

Telephone lines conduct electricity, so avoid using landline phones during a storm.

Metal pipes also conduct electricity, so avoid taking showers and baths or using running water during a storm.

High winds

Arizona thunderstorm winds often exceed 40 mph and straight-line winds can exceed 100 mph.

Move into a central interior room away from windows to avoid blowing debris that could shatter glass.

If you are driving in high winds, slow down and anticipate steering correction when moving from protected to unprotected wind areas or when encountering large passing vehicles.

Be aware of high-profile vehicles — trucks, semis, buses, campers, or those towing a trailer — because they can be unpredictable during high winds.

Before the monsoon storm hits, evaluate large trees close to your home for potential hazards.

Watching an Arizona monsoon storm from the safety of your own home can be an awe-inspiring experience, but if you’re caught outdoors during one, here are some safety tips:

1. If you see a sign that says “Do Not Cross When Flooded,” take it seriously. If you are caught in a wash, try to climb out on the roof of your vehicle and wait for help. Use your cell phone, if available, to call 911.

2. If you’re driving when it’s raining, slow down. Remember that the beginning of rain storms in the area are the most dangerous times since that’s when oils and other automotive fluids are being washed off the roads causing unusually slick conditions.

3. If your visibility is impeded by heavy rain or blowing dust, most people will reduce their speed, but keep driving straight. Don’t change lanes unless absolutely necessary. Area drivers will often use their emergency blinkers (hazard lights) during the storm because blinking lights are easier to see. If you don’t want to drive in the storm, slowly pull off to the side of the road as far to the right as possible, turn off your car, turn off your lights, and keep your foot off the brake pedal. Otherwise, drivers may come up quickly behind you assuming that you’re still in motion.

4. To avoid being struck by lightning stay away from open fields, high land, trees, poles, other tall objects, standing bodies of water including swimming pools, and metal objects including golf clubs and lawn chairs.

Natural light and sound

If you’re home during the Arizona monsoon storms, there are still some things you can do to stay safe and enjoy the natural light and sound show:

1. Turn off all unnecessary electrical equipment during storms to decrease the draw on power companies. This is a prime time for power outages in the area.

2. Because of the risk of power failure, keep batteries, a working batter-powered radio or television, flashlights, and candles handy. If the power goes out, remember to keep lit candles out of direct drafts.

The Quick Cook

Don’t Panic! Improvise!

By Sharon Arthur Moore

I love the panoply of the Fourth of July. This year we are celebrating it in Denali National Park. I’m hoping for some spectacular fireworks against the spectacular backdrop. If we were home, I’d be attending our neighborhood potluck. I’ll miss the familiarity of the party and friends but I’m always up for an adventure.

Are you going to a July Fourth potluck? If you need a quick dessert, here’s one that is sooo easy.

Old Glory Dessert

1 angel food or pound cake loaf
2 cups sliced strawberries
½ can sour cherries, drained
2 cups blueberries
whipped cream

Cut the cake into 8-10 slices. Grill the cake on both sides to toast it a bit.

In a medium bowl mix together sour cherries, strawberries, and blueberries. Top cake slices with fruit and top with whipped cream. You can decorate with a blueberry and strawberry to make it fancy. Enjoy!

On to this week’s Quick Cook Tip.

We entertain a lot, and I’ll bet this has happened to you. You have a dish planned and you can’t find the ingredient at the store. This happened to me twice recently with two different batches of company.

Or you thought you had brought your coriander to Munds Park from your other house, but, nope. Not to be found. And you seventeen miles from a grocery store.

In the first case, I was making hummus and needed tahini. I checked two stores. So, all other ingredients on hand, I thought about what else I could use. My hummus recipe is below so you can find out how I improvised my way out of this situation.

The second case was tied to the third case. I was making Ginger-Peach Chicken in the slow cooker. I needed frozen peaches. Out of stock at the store. And this recipe is where I needed coriander. Not at this house. So I used canned peaches and Chinese Five-Spice Powder. Delicious. And only I knew I had improvised. My recipe adaptation is below.

Quick Cook Tip #26: Improvise

Really, the only requirement for QC Tip #26 is to have a working sense of what goes together and a pretty good taste bud in your head.

Taste bud in your head? You know. The one that lets you read a recipe and sorta know what it tastes like so you decide to make it. The taste bud that kicks in when you decide to modify a recipe even if you don’t have to. Hmm. The recipe calls for vanilla and pecans, but you substitute almond extract and sliced almonds. You know what I mean.

Knowing what spices work best with which meats means you can make dozens of variations of your favorite chicken recipes just by changing out the coriander with Chinese Five-Spice powder or some such.

Here are two of my recent improvisations brought on by that necessity of not having the right ingredients. Improv is fun in comedy and in cooking!

The Quick Cook’s Hummus

15 ounce can of garbanzo beans (chickpeas)
juice of large lemon
⅛ cup peanut butter
1-2 cloves garlic, minced (adjust to your taste)
⅛ cup sesame oil
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon cumin
3 tablespoons water (optional)
Paprika for garnish
Pita bread for serving

Drain and rinse garbanzo beans with water. Drain off water.

In food processor, blend lemon juice, peanut butter, garlic, sesame oil, salt, and cumin for one minute. Scrape down sides and process for another minute to cream the nut butter mixture.

Add one half the garbanzo beans to the food processor. Blend for one minute. Scrape down sides, add remaining beans and process for two minutes.

Scrape down sides again. If hummus is not smooth, process in thirty-second increments until the consistency you like. Taste. Add more garlic or cumin to taste.

If the hummus is too thick or chunky, add water a tablespoon at a time. Process until smooth and creamy.

Sprinkle with paprika if desired and serve with pita bread or crackers. I like to have raw veggies to dip in, too.

You can keep hummus in an airtight container for about a week in the refrigerator.

PINEWOOD PLAYERS NEWS

As I write this, Drama Camps start tomorrow, kids in the morning and teens in the afternoon. By the time you read this, we will have completed our first week and the camp for younger kids will be half way through. We have to practice fast. Not that it isn’t fun, too, but there is so much work to be done.

The kids will all know by Monday evening what part they will play, and that night, they’ll go through script – younger ones with parents and older kids alone in their bedrooms or on the front porch. They’ll highlight their own parts and start reading them aloud, getting the feel for the words, imagining what the character they are playing might be. Rehearsal will begin in earnest on Tuesday and they’ll want to be ready.

The younger kids will have their costumes by the end of that week – wait until you see how great they look. Teen costuming is a bit more complicated. Many of the teens will be playing the part of… well….. teenagers, and that complicated comes in. I’m fortunate to have a group of volunteers who will work with me to design zombie attire and we’ll spend hours working on makeup until we get that classic “undead” look.

The kids will spend those hours practicing their dance steps and songs. The directors and choreographers have this all planned out in their heads. The trick is to get the kids to reproduce that vision on stage.

Opening night, it all comes together: So gather up your own kids, your grandkids and nieces and nephews and join us on July 8th-10th for We, the People and again July 15th – 17th for Zombie Night!

Provident Partners Realty Agent Here To Serve You!
Outdoor spaces that are functional, beautiful and designed for entertaining and relaxing are not only enjoyable, but can actually be good for your wallet.

According to a report published by RealEstate.com, Landscaping and Hardscaping have the highest ROI (return on investment) of all home improvement renovations, and can reap up to a 200% return.

Landscape economist John Harris says “Landscaping can add up to 28% to the overall values of your home, and cut the time on the market by 10%-15%”. Here are five outdoor improvements that add value to your home.

1. Outdoor Kitchen/BBQ: 100% - 200% ROI

According to Remodel Magazine and Realestate.com all report that outdoor kitchens reap the highest return of any landscaping investment, as long as they are proportional to the value of the home.

2. Fire Pit: up to 150% ROI

The society of landscape architects report that fire pits rank third in the most popular outdoor living feature. No one can resist the flicker of the flames and the temptation of a s’more.

3. Deck: 60%-80% ROI

According to Remodel Magazines Cost vs. Value report, a wood deck can bring an 80.5 percent return on investment. The best part is that it gives you additional living space and a place to entertain and relax.

4. Patio/Pergola: 77%-90% ROI

HGTV includes the addition of a patio in their recommended top 15 home improvements. As a natural extension of the home’s ground floor, a patio is a great cost-effective way to increase your living/entertaining space. A covered patio provides a dramatic focal point, additional intimacy and protection from the sun.

5. Outdoor Lighting: 50% ROI

Outdoor lighting consistently tops the National Association of Home Builders’ list of most wanted outdoor features. Exterior lighting goes beyond security to showcasing the natural world, and your homes accent features. Your home shines as it is painted with light using up-lights, down-lights, and tree-lights.

It’s not too late. There’s still time to begin your project to take advantage of our pleasant summer climate. Whether you want to create an intimate retreat, or an expanded entertainment space you can do so with the knowledge that you can simultaneously increase your home enjoyment and your homes value.

THINK BEFORE YOU ACT!

It only takes one spark on dry grass, leaves, branches or pine needles to start a wildfire. Even live trees and brush are dry enough to easily ignite. Wildfires impact recreation areas and may destroy homes and cabins, and threaten lives.

Chainsaws, dragging trailer safety chains, carelessly tossed cigarettes, fireworks, abandoned campfires, and discharge of firearms are all known causes of wildfire.

Warn others of potential dangers and behaviors that may start wildfires.

REPORT ALL WILDFIRES TO 911

Know BEFORE You Go!

• Check for Fire Restrictions.

Call the hotline toll-free at 1-877-864-6985 or go to the Fire Restrictions Website

• Fire restrictions vary, but most mean that no open fires are allowed except in established campgrounds with fire grills or pits. Some areas have prohibited all fires except gas or propane camp stoves, some restrict all types of flame.

• In Arizona, many areas due to dry conditions will enter into fire restrictions in late April or May and typically rescind those seasonal restrictions in September or October. This is seasonally variable.

• Check the weather and plan accordingly.

• Take plenty of water for cooking, drinking AND putting out your campfire*.

* When and where permitted.
As we celebrate the 4th of July, I hear often of nightmare stories of their lending experiences. Obtaining a mortgage doesn't have to be an explosion of fireworks, pardon the pun. Claim your independence and know the mortgage process and some tips to avoid some pitfalls.

Before you even start looking for a new home, getting prequalified is the best avenue to take. Get a recommendation for a good lender and not just click on some low teaser rate online that might entice you. As friends, your Realator, go online and good lenders in your area, use social media and do your research. Picking the right lender is equally as important as finding the perfect home. Once you do find a reputable lender, prepare to gather up many documents. Usually the list is 2 yrs. taxes, 2 yrs. W2s, current paystubs and 2 months bank statements. Being self-employed, retired or a commission sales position might need additional documents.

Ask the lender to review your documents. This sounds obvious, but you would be shocked to hear many lenders either don't even ask for this documentation for a prequalification or even look at it. All lenders use an automated underwriting system or AUS. Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac have their own AUS system. Ask the lender to run your scenario through the system. It ensures that what you have provided and stated will most likely pass an Underwriter once they review your loan.

Ok, so now you have your pre-qualification and ready to hit the road runner. You make and offer and now you are in contract to purchase a home. Now, as I joke around that the fun begins. The lender will ask for some updated documents depending on how long it has been since the last correspondence. Usually updated paystubs and bank statements are needed because they expire. The Loan Officer usually passes your file now to a Loan Processor to make your mortgage file into a nice pretty package for the Underwriter to review. Be nice to the Processor. He or she is your best friend in this process.

The loan file is submitted to the Underwriter while you do your home inspection and ask for repairs for if need be. Some lenders don't submit their file until the appraisal is completed. In my office, we do to get a jump start on the approval. After all the repair items are completed, an appraisal is ordered. Depending on your area of town, some appraisal turn times are a few weeks out. I know many parts of Northern Arizona are taking longer than expected due to a limited amount of appraisers and higher than normal volume of business. In Metro Phoenix, a week is a normally the time frame. Hopefully the appraisal comes back at value. If not, their might be some re-negotiations that happen between the seller and buyer. Once the appraisal process is completed, the file is reviewed again with the Underwriter and you have a Final Approval or a clear to close in the lending world.

There are some new steps in the mortgage process. One important document that has come out since October 2015 is called the Closing Disclosure or "CD". This CD is sent out, sometimes before final approval or at final approval. It is imperative to acknowledge the CD whether it is sent electronically, faxed or mailed. Once the CD is signed, the lender has to wait a full 3 days to proceed. On a quick close of escrow you can see how tight the lending time frames are. After the 3 days have gone, usually final loan documents are sent to the title company for preparation. You are then ready to sign your final loan documents in front of a notary or Escrow Officer. The loan documents are sent back to the lender for review and then your loan is funded. Once the lender funds the loan, they sent the wire to the title company and the title company disburses the funds an records the deed of trust.

Each lender has a different process on how they complete a loan. Ask your lender their time frames and process. It is important as a buyer to know how the mortgage company completes their loan. Being an educated consumer is the best avenue to a smooth closing without any explosions. Have a wonderful and safe 4th of July!

The Munds Park Community Watch (MPCW) was formerly called Neighborhood Watch and is now a function of the Pinewood Fire Department. This article is a continuation of the previous issue covering some important considerations on vehicular travel within the park and it will also be repeated a number of times throughout the season.

The previous article talked about when pedestrians are walking along our roadways in the park, they should be “walking against traffic.” Approaching vehicles might not be heard and the walkers can be surprised with possible injuries accruing to them including dogs and children. Just recently, I was going up Crestline between Pinewood Blvd and Midway when I came upon six or seven adults with four or five small children walking on my side of the road. The adults did not hear me approaching them and the children were running around weaving back and forth in my lane. I stopped at the first couple of adults and suggested that they walk on the opposite side of the road but there was no change in their position or an attempt to corral the kids to the shoulder. A vehicle certainly has the right-of-way since there was no cross walk or intersection situation but drivers should adopt a cautious attitude and protective position by slowing down whenever overtaking walkers even though they are on your side of the road.

There are a several “race ways” here in the park; Pinewood Blvd, Hillside, Oak, and Cedar Wood provide nice straight stretches for motorists to make up for lost time by speeding! The speed limit in the entire park is 25 MPH; if you live 1.5 miles from I-17, which is the average distance, you can save just under a minute by driving 35 MPH. Consider the consequences of unsafe driving with possible injury to pedestrians just to save a minute not to mention the possibility of a speeding ticket which would really make you late to work!

Then there are the ATV’s, side by sides, razors, and whatever you call those noisy things. We see not only speeding but numerous violations involving those vehicles. Children under 16 who cannot be driving because you must have a license, multiple riders on a one rider vehicle, and children under 18 without helmets. Then throw in the non-licensed vehicles and those without all of the things to make them legal. Some vehicles require seat belts and the number one unsafe practice in my book—a very young child riding on the gas tank in front of his adult driver! These vehicles always produce many serious injuries during the summer and last year, on the day of the parade, a young lady had to be air-evacuated after she tumbled from her ATV on Pinewood Blvd and Raintree.

The season is upon us and all drivers should be aware of the pedestrians and you ATVers are all cautioned to obey the rules so we don’t have any regrets for our actions….think SAFETY.

The next MPCW meeting will be on August 17th, 2016, at 6:30pm at the PFD. In addition to the Fire Chief John Welsch, invited guests include the CCSO Community Officer Cpl. Elano Sales, a Coconino National Forest representative, Marc Della Rocca and selected representatives from the county, and District Three Supervisor Matt Ryan.

For information and volunteering, please call the community coordinator, Len Friedlund, at (928) 286-1655 or (928) 600-3896 or email to lfriedlund@aol.com. There is a web site for the program utilizing the Pinewood Property Owners Association’s (PPOA) www.pinewoodpboa.org and clicking on the Neighborhood Watch (to be changed to Community Watch) tab. The PPOA supports the MPCW program with funds to cover most of the costs associated with the program. If you haven’t sent in your annual donation yet to the PPOA, please consider the support they give us when you do. Your donations may be mailed to PPOA, PO Box 18673, Munds Park, AZ 86017.

My first summer romance, at age fifteen, was more of a crush. I went to a camp for the arts on Cape Cod and adored the drawing teacher. I thought he was very old. He went to the Chicago Art Institute which meant he was at least twenty! He handled it very well. We talked and he teased me like an older brother. But Ron gave me confidence that I could relate to the opposite sex. He drew a sexy sketch of me which I have hanging in my bedroom in Scottsdale.

The summer after that my parents rented a house on the beach after camp ended. The teenagers would go down to the beach at night and make bonfires. I met a fellow from Connecticut (I lived in New Jersey) and had my first mutual romance. I was a naïve kid so it only entailed kissing, but it sure made me feel good. We wrote and saw each other during the fall but it fizzled with the winter snow.

In the summer of my sophomore year of college, I worked in the Hamptons as a waitress in a twenty-four hour diner. Some of my college friends were there, and all the out-of-town waitresses lived in a mansion, which had seen finer days, across the street from the diner. We were paid $1.25 an hour and pooled our tips which usually gave us another dollar per hour. But we got free room and board so I was able to save quite a bit of money.

This was in the late sixties so there were plenty of bars and music. (The drinking age was eighteen then.) The first half of the summer I fell for a guy named Gordon who was in the Coast Guard. He looked like Troy Donahue and I called G. G. of the C. G. (Gorgeous Gordon of the Coast Guard.) He left midway through the summer for another assignment.

My heart was broken until I met Max one night. He was a Marine stationed at Camp LeJeune, 665 miles from the Hamptons on Long Island. But he would “swoop” down for long weekends to see me. Oh my, how romantic. Sometimes I would get off at midnight and we would sleep on the beach.

I went back to the Hamptons the following summer with my boyfriend Rob, who had just graduated from The University of Rochester, where I was going to be a senior. Although I liked him a lot, the romance didn’t bloom until that summer. The ocean, the sand, the sun, the passion. He proposed towards the end of the summer and I married him the next year.

I was done with summer romances, for a while. When I was in my late thirties, and divorced for five years, I went over to a friend’s house for dinner. Afterwards, she and her husband convinced me to go to a bar where they played Classic Rock. It was a boiling hot summer in Phoenix and didn’t seem like the time for a romance. But as soon as I saw Dan, I fell in love. That had never happened before. He proposed a month later and we married the following spring.

Fast forward to being a single senior. It’s different now. I’m more a “seize the moment” person, make the most of today because maybe I’ll be eating dirt tomorrow. In this column I’ve chronicled my summer flings with Mr. Spiritual Journey and the Train Man. Neither led to anything serious, but they were great summer flings. It’s been a few years since I’ve felt that passion. But now I’ve met Mr. Hotstuff in Munds Park. Maybe it will only last a week or two, maybe the summer, maybe more. I’ll enjoy it as it is.

PS. He told me I should change my photo for the paper because it didn’t do me justice. Way to stroke my ego!

When the Teen Drama Camp Producer first asked me to write a “Director’s Corner” article, I sat here kind of stumped. As much preparation as I seem to do for every piece that I work on, I always seem to be a little tongue-tied when someone asks me to talk about it publicly. So, instead of trying to think of something meaningful to say about the show or some clever way to promote it, I spent a little bit of time reminiscing about the camp we did last year. What I remembered most was a group of wonderfully excited, eager and talented kids looking forward to learning about their craft while making and developing lasting friendships and life lessons.

As a working director and theatre teacher, I am often amazed at how little previous experience and training is a predictor of success when dealing with youth. As adults, we are often preoccupied with what someone has done before, with where they have studied, with what their credentials are. With kids, I constantly see those with little to no experience suddenly discover that they have a knack for this acting thing. Or I’ll see someone who’s been hiding in the background for several shows suddenly blossom and develop a confidence that they’ve never had before. In short, when working with kids, the standard rules don’t apply and there’s no limit to the realm of possibilities.

That’s what happened in our camp last year and that’s what I’m looking forward to in this year’s camp – seeing kids who have never done a show before getting up on stage and performing with the naturalism of a seasoned pro, watching a youngster who’s parent’s describe as painfully shy standing on stage and delivering their performance with confidence and force, and finally, seeing all these kids from various backgrounds and experiences come together and make new friends and learn what it is to work together as a group towards a common goal. This time around we just happen to be doing it in a farmhouse filled with ghosts and zombies rather than on a beach filled with surfer girls and guys. But underneath the surface differences, it really is the same process and the same goals – learning about the creative process while developing confidence and teamwork. Because above all else, theatre is a collaborative art and the best art comes from those who know how to work together.
Abineau Lodge Opens Coffee Bar

The Abineau Lodge dining room is now open to the public.

Mountainea, Arizona May 20, 2016: The Abineau Lodge, Mountainea’s only bed and breakfast, is now serving expressos, breakfast and lunch to the public. Located at 1080 Mountainea Road, just off I-17 at Exit 333, the Lodge has been serving breakfasts to overnight guests since opening in 1997. Owner Wendy White decided to open the dining room to the public this year as a community gathering place.

“\[quote: We have such a unique and comfortable location we want to share it with our neighbors, not just out of town visitors. We’ve been preparing breakfasts for our guests for 20 years and it’s a natural fit to expand that service to locals too,\]" Wendy said.

The Abineau Lodge, formerly known as the Sled Dog Inn, opened in 1997. The Lodge was built to blend into the natural environment and is situated next to Coconino National Forest in the community of Mountainea, just south of Flagstaff, Arizona. Originally operating as an outdoor adventure center, the Lodge now operates as an event center, bed and breakfast, coffee shop and wine bar.

The Coffee Shop is open from 6:30 am to 2 pm Wednesday through Saturday and 7:30 am to 2 pm on Sunday. Wine and cheese is available evenings from 5-8 pm. The dining room is closed on Monday and Tuesday. No reservations are required. For more information, visit www.abineaulodge.com .

For my chicken dish, and most dishes asking for fresh ginger, I use Gourmet Garden Ginger Paste found in the produce section of the grocery store. Very nice!

The Quick Cook’s Ginger-Peach Slow Cooker Chicken

6-8 large chicken thighs
2 cans of canned peaches, drained, juice reserved
½ cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons fresh ginger (refrigerated paste or grated raw)
1 tablespoon Chinese Five-Spice Powder
1 can sliced water chestnuts

Whisk together peach juice, soy sauce, ginger and Chinese Five-Spice Powder. Pour small amount in the bottom of the slow cooker. Put in half the chicken.

Pour half the remaining sauce over the chicken, spreading to coat the chicken. Top with one can of peach slices.

Repeat with remaining chicken, sauce, and peaches.

Cook on high for four to five hours (or on low for six to seven hours).

Remove lid and coat chicken with the juice in the pot. Top with water chestnuts and cook on low for another fifteen minutes.

Great served over brown rice with veggies!

PHOENIX – Attorney General Mark Brnovich is warning Arizonans to be aware of door-to-door home alarm security scams. The scam involves using deceptive sales tactics and mislead get consumers to sign up for home alarm contracts or switch home alarm monitoring services.

“Everyone wants to feel safe at home and these scam artists prey on people’s desire to keep their families safe,” said Attorney General Mark Brnovich. “Remember, don’t give in to high pressure sales tactics.”

Third-party salespeople may pretend they are affiliated with consumers’ current home security company. Consumers are also told their equipment needs to be upgraded or replaced, or that their current monitoring company is going out of business and the company they represent will be taking over the monitoring service.

Consumers can find themselves obligated under multiple contracts with different companies following such deceptive sales tactics and may even have to pay substantial amounts of money to re-install equipment that may have been removed during the installation of any new equipment.

AG Brnovich Offers the Following Advice:

• Always be on guard when approached at home and never feel obligated to answer the door, especially when home alone.
• Ask to see a salesperson’s identification and permit that allows him or her to engage in home solicitations in your city.
• If you already use a home security system, contact that company to confirm any statements made regarding your account or service.
• Do not get pressured into signing any documents or installing any equipment immediately; a reputable company will allow you to review all terms and conditions before asking you to sign a contract or install equipment.

Arizona law gives consumers until midnight of the third business day to cancel home solicitation sales purchases in writing and sellers must return any payments made within ten days of the cancellation.

If you believe you have been a victim of consumer fraud, please contact the Attorney General’s Office in Phoenix at (602) 542-5763, in Tucson at (520) 628-6504, or outside the Phoenix and Tucson metro areas at 1(800) 352-8431. Consumers can also file complaints online by visiting the Attorney General’s website at https://www.azag.gov/complaints/consumer.

Public Works Update
By
Mike Lopker, Interim Director
Coconino County Public Works

Willard Springs Transfer Station – Changes Are Coming This Fall

Public Works has been working with the Munds Park community for almost a year towards creating a viable operational model for the Willard Springs Transfer Station. A series of meetings was held over the winter and spring between Public Works and Munds Park community leaders, solid waste commercial operators, wildfire management experts and residents from Munds Park and neighboring communities regarding the fiscal challenges and opportunities associated with operating the transfer station into the future.

After reviewing several prospective operational models for Willard Springs, a community consensus was reached for a model that will increase the fee structure and change the summer and winter operational schedule for the station. This model was presented to and approved by the Coconino County Board of Supervisors on June 7th.

A 60-day comment period regarding the proposed model will be effect until the middle of September. The Board of Supervisors will then hold a Regular Meeting and Public Hearing on Tuesday, September 27th at 6:00 pm in the County Administrative Center First Floor Meeting Room, 219 East Cherry, Flagstaff Arizona, to hear anyone wishing to comment for or against any proposed fee increase. Following the Public Hearing, the Board will consider adoption of a revised fee schedule. If adopted, then the new changes would go into effect on November 1, 2016.

The proposed fee increases and operational schedule changes are available for review at www.coconino.az.gov/WillardSpringsFeeandScheduleChange. If you wish to comment on these changes before the meeting on September 27th, then please submit them to the Public Works Solid Waste Division in one of the following ways:

Email: solidwaste@coconino.az.gov

Mail: Coconino County Public Works
Attention: Solid Waste Division Manager
5600 E. Commerce
Flagstaff, AZ  86004

Online: You also can submit comments online at www.coconino.az.gov/WillardSpringsFeeandScheduleChange.

On behalf of Coconino County, I would like to thank the leadership and residents of Munds Park for their cooperation and professionalism while working with the County throughout this process. Although fees will likely rise in the years to come due to diminishing waste volumes and normal market inflationary factors, we believe that, by working together, we have been able to develop a viable, near-term solution for the Willard Springs Transfer Station and your community.

Survey Says!...Well Maintained Roads Still Matter A Lot to County Residents

It's hard to believe that almost a year has passed since the County completed paving operations for the Pinewood Boulevard Reconstruction Project. I remember crews working long hours to finish the job before the annual Fourth of July parade with everyone keeping an eye on the sky for incoming monsoon storms. However, with the support of the Munds Park community (and a little luck from the weather), the County's contractor was able to complete this project in time for another great parade.

The Pinewood Boulevard and Munds Wash Bridge Repair projects were two of the first County Roads Capital Improvement Plan (CIP) projects to be funded by Proposition 403, the County's Road Maintenance Ballot Measure, which was approved by almost 65 percent of County voters in November 2014. Now, a recently completed citizen survey of 600 full-time County residents shows that support for well-maintained County roads still matter...a lot.

The 2016 Citizen Survey Report indicated that our residents prioritize Road Maintenance above all other County service areas. In fact, if these residents were given $100 to spend on County services, then they would allocate one-third to Road Maintenance followed by Public Health, Criminal Justice and Parks & Recreation.

The 2016 Citizen Survey Report is very interesting reading. It is available for download at www.coconino.az.gov/CitizenSurveyReport2016. Check it out!
There are not many women who have the joint title of novelist-neuroscientist. I should add Harvard grad. Lisa Genova is one. If her name is familiar to you, it may be because she is the author of the novel Still Alice which was made into a movie starring Julianne Moore who received the best actress Academy Award in 2015. Still Alice is the fictional story of a Harvard professor who suffers from early onset Alzheimer’s and was inspired by Genova’s grandmother’s affliction with the disease.

In Left Neglected, Genova once again puts her knowledge and training as a neuroscientist to use in a fictional tale of one woman’s brain injury, how she comes to grips with her limitations, and maps out a new life for herself that is perhaps better than the one she had prior.

Sarah Nickerson is a 37-year old career-driven supermom who works 80 hours a week in a high-powered job. The demands and high pressures are what she loves. She and her husband Bob, along with a nanny for the three children, live in an affluent suburb of Boston where their life is hectic but seemingly charmed. Sarah manages every minute of her life like an air traffic controller until her multi-tasking throws her life into a free fall. While trying to make a phone call on a rainy morning commute, she looks away from the road one second too long. Like the sound of tires trying unsuccessfully to stop in time, her life, as she knew it, also comes to a screeching halt.

A traumatic brain injury complete erases the left side of Sarah’s world. If the author’s intent is to shed light on rarely looked at neurological conditions, she succeeds with Left Neglected. The title refers to a little-known condition of left side neglect, also called hemispatial or unilateral neglect. It is the result of an injury to the right hemisphere of the brain and can occur after an aneurysm or traumatic brain injury. It can be temporary or it may improve in increments through rehabilitation. Now Sarah, the successful, competent high achiever, is entirely unable to perceive anything on the left, including her left arm, leg and facial features, to a point where she has to be reminded to look left, not a task easily achieved.

One review says the title is also a metaphor for all the things Sarah may have neglected—either inadvertently or deliberately—because of the intense and rapid pace of her overscheduled life.

So begins a new life for Sarah and those around her and as the reader we are taken on this painful road of recovery with her. She cannot dress herself, walk without a cane, make sense of a newspaper article or trust herself to make a trip to the ladies’ room alone. Her husband has to supervise her when she brushes her teeth as he does for their three children because her brain does not register the left side of her mouth. However, Sarah has a stubborn reluctance to accept her limitations and she applies the same high-achieving resolve that she has given to her career to re-gaining her independence. She prides herself on being competitive and vows to “recover faster than anyone would ever predict.” She tries to ignore the voice in her head which asks, “What happens if I don’t get better?”

The surrounding cast, her husband Bob, her therapist, and her mother, who becomes her care-giver at home once she is out of re-hab, are supportive and interesting characters. There is also a sub-plot of a reconciliation with her mother who has not been present in her life until now. She uses this time with Sarah to make up for the many times she was not present.

Although all of the above seems depressing and the very thought of such an injury is truly frightening and disturbing, Sarah’s journey and the realizations she makes about life by the end of the story are truly uplifting. I won’t give any plot spoilers but I was inspired by the turn of events.

If you like Ms. Genova’s writing, her other fictional titles also put her PhD in neuroscience to good use. Love Anthony is a story of autism and Inside the O’Briens is the story of a Boston cop who suffers from Huntington’s disease. Her books have been described as heart-wrenching with large doses of hope.

It would seem that hope is often the most powerful prescription a patient can have.

What I Learned in Ireland about Munds Park Birding
by Margaret Dyekman

In bird watching language, a Big Sit is an event in which birders sit and/or stand for 24 hours in a circle that is 17 feet in diameter and identify and count as many bird species as can be seen or heard from within that area. There are many rules for Big Sits, which are run by various birding organizations across the world. The rules include how to count the species, timing, number of participants, conduct and ethics, and use of information provided by others not in the Big Sit area. The goal is to be the team that identifies the most bird species, reports their totals under the approved documentation criteria, and wins the big prize – sometimes called the Golden Bird prize. Now some of you readers may think I am making this stuff up, but I’m not, it’s all true.

So I decided to create my own version of the Big Sit – more like a Little Sit – while my sister-in-law Claire and I volunteered to watch for errant golf balls during the June Pinewood Country Club’s men’s invitational golf tournament, called the Shoot-out in the Pines. Our job was to position ourselves in a golf cart near Hole 14 and spot golf balls that were hit into the rough. We were to make it easier for the golfer to find his ball and thus move play along. Last year we were spotters on Hole 12, but this year we thought we got a prime assignment because there were many opportunities for the golfers to get into trouble: on their first shot from the 14 tee box, on their second shot from the fairway or rough, and a bonus because on the other side of us the men were teeing off on Hole 11 and they could miss-hit to the right and get in the “junk” (which a couple of them did on our watch).

So our own Little Sit rules were to watch for balls, help find errant ones, and count as many bird species as we could during that three-hour time frame, while staying in the same general areas around the middle of Hole 14. The time flew by because we were always busy! We had to find 13 miss-hit golf balls during those three hours, and we were able to see or hear the following birds: Western Bluebird, American Crow, Common Raven, Steller’s Jay, Red-Winged Blackbird, Barn Swallow, Osprey, Black Phoebe, Say’s Phoebe, Great Blue Heron, and Chipping Sparrow. We saw a couple of other birds that we were not sure of: a soaring possible falcon or hawk, and either a Mourning Dove or Band-Tailed Pigeon flying across the fairway. Considering that we were birding at a pretty unfavorable time – between 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. – and that we had to keep an eye out for golf balls at the same time, we considered the Little Sit a success.

In the meantime, I received an e-mail from Martha on Reindeer with a reminder that we should all be paying attention to our bird baths in this hot weather. She has several birdbaths with drippers and is attracting more birds than usual. Her observations are that Northern Flickers prefer the basin closest to the ground, the Nuthatches, Mountain Chickadees, Lesser Gold Finches, and Black-Headed Grosbeaks prefer sipping right from the dripper or the higher basin. Make sure you periodically clean your birdbaths, scrubbing them with a brush and very mild solution of bleach, then rinsing thoroughly.

Finally, the most exciting bird sighting I had lately was a Painted Redstart in our front yard. The last time I saw this bird in Munds Park was July of 2014, and prior to that a sighting in 2010. It is a bird found primarily in Arizona and New Mexico at elevations from 5,000 to 8,000 feet – fits Munds Park perfectly!

You can reach me at margaretdyekman@cox.net, and you can read all the archived Birds of Munds Park articles and leave your comments at www.birdladyblog.wordpress.com. I welcome your questions, reports of sightings, and your ideas for future articles.

Exercise for Life
EVERYTHING YOU WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT TELOMERES BUT WERE AFRAID TO ASK!

By Martha E. Thomas, PT

There is a growing body of evidence that lifestyle factors affect the health and lifespan of an individual by affecting telomere length. Telomeres are specific DNA protein structures that are found at both ends of our chromosomes. They protect our genomes from degradation and preserve the information within our genomes. When telomere length reaches a critical limit, cells start to die. The aging process affects the length of telomeres. They naturally shorten with age. Shorter telomeres are a risk factor for cancer, coronary artery disease and premature aging and premature death.

Here is a list of the things that have been shown to decrease the length of telomeres and cause premature aging and illness:

1. Smoking
2. Obesity
3. Lack of daily exercise
4. Air pollution
5. Stress
6. An unhealthy diet high in animal proteins and fats

Here is what we can do to keep our telomeres from getting to short too fast.

2. Eat a diet that is high in fiber and low in fat.
3. Eat more fish and less meat
4. Add healthy fats to your diet in the form of avocados and olive oil
5. Add soy protein and nuts like walnuts and almonds
6. Drink green tea and other foods like black raspberries, broccoli and red grapes which are all high in antioxidants.
7. Exercise daily for 30 minutes: Consider purchasing a "fit Bit" or track your steps on your phone. Your goal is 10,000 steps per day.
8. Add meditation to your day. 15 minutes of silence with deep breathing is one way to start. It has been proven that people who meditate daily have lower resting heart rates and decreased risk of high blood pressure related illnesses.
9. Watch less TV.
10. Stay in Munds Park as long as possible to reduce inhaling the air pollutants found in Phoenix!

There are some things we have no control over in life. However, research again and again points to EXERCISE and a healthy diet as two important ways to age well and keep those TELOMERES from shortening!

Martha is a licensed physical therapist and educator and has lived in Munds Park for 15 years.

Dust Storm - Phoenix, AZ

Will you know what to do?

- Avoid driving into or through a dust storm.
- If you encounter a dust storm, immediately check traffic around your vehicle (front, back and to the side) and begin slowing down.
- Do not wait until poor visibility makes it difficult to safely pull off the roadway — do it as soon as possible.
- Completely exit the highway if you can.
- Do not stop in a travel lane or in the emergency lane. Look for a safe place to pull completely off the traveled portion of the roadway.
- Turn off all vehicle lights, including your emergency flashers. You do not want other vehicles approaching from behind to see your lights as a guide, possibly creating into your parked vehicle.
- Set your emergency brake and take your foot off the brake.
- Stay in the vehicle with your seatbelts buckled and wait for the storm to pass.

Drivers of high-profile vehicles should be especially aware of changing weather conditions and travel at reduced speed.

FIVE LOCAL CHARITIES COME TOGETHER TO SEND KIDS IN FOSTER CARE BACK TO SCHOOL

In our world today, it seems to be out of the norm to hear of collaborative efforts, of people and groups coming together for a common good. Too often it seems that everyone wants to be a Lone Ranger, to do it alone, instead of seeking out opportunities to join forces and work together to accomplish a goal.

A group of charities, all invested in making lives better for children in foster care, are collaborating on a HUGE undertaking – to provide Backpacks filled with school supplies to 4,000 children in foster care. They hope to give these children the tools necessary to be successful as the new school year begins.

This program is an expansion of previous drives held by ARIZONA FRIENDS OF FOSTER CHILDREN FOUNDATION (“AFFCF”). In 2015, AFFCF gave out 1,200 backpacks to children in foster care. This year they’ve been joined by Voices for CASA Children, AASK and ARIZONA HELPING HANDS (“AHH”), all Qualifying Foster Care Charitable Organizations, in a unified effort to reach 4,000 kids.

A partnership with the Assistance League of Phoenix has also jumped in with their Operation School Bell Program to provide 200 children with uniform clothing to start the school year.

Dan Shufelt, President & CEO of AHH tells us, “individually, each of these groups has done Back to School drives in prior years. We all believe in the importance of supporting the 19,000 kids in Arizona’s foster care system. It only makes sense that we work together to expand the reach and impact of this project. Together we can be more efficient, maximize our buying power and eliminate any duplication of efforts.”

Through July 29th, boxes will be available in a variety of offices throughout the Valley to collect needed supplies. Additionally, a website (www.ahhbacktoschool.org) has been set up where donors can purchase fully stocked backpacks for as little as $10.50. Distribution of the backpacks will be from the AHH warehouse in the Scottsdale Airpark at the end of July. Collection events will also be held on select weekends in July at the Scottsdale Promenade and Sam’s Club in North Scottsdale. Families with a Notice to Provider from the Arizona Department of Child Safety are eligible to apply for assistance after July 5th at www.azhelpinghands.org.

Shufelt says, “Boys and girls in foster care have so many other concerns they must deal with each and every day. All of them have been through traumatic home life disruptions, and too many face the uncertainty of what the future will hold. We know how important it is to start a school year supplied with a brand new backpack and a few supplies. This gives children a little confidence entering what often is a new school environment. We are banding together to show these children how our community can work as a team to lend them a Helping Hand.”

Little Free Library

The first we heard of the Little Free Library was when we were on vacation last summer with our daughter, son and daughter-in-law. I pulled out a book to read and our daughter asked if I had every of this organization. Since we had not, she told us what she knew about it and suggested that since we had so many books maybe her dad could build a book nook for us to place in Munds Park. We found plans in one of Harold’s woodworking magazines and the idea took off.

The first Little Free Library we saw was outside a business in Colorado. The boxes came in many different shapes and sizes. Some are built to look like the residence it is near.

A Little Free Library is a “take a book, replace a book” free book exchange. There is an understanding that real people are sharing their favorite books with their community.

The mission as stated on the LittleFreeLibrary.com website is: “to promote literacy and the love of reading by building free book exchanges worldwide and to build a sense of community as we share skills, creativity and wisdom across generations.”

Our hope is that residents, visitors, and passersby will enjoy using our Little Free Library located in front of our home at 675 E. Oak. It will be in place from May 10-October 10. By Harold and Judith Withers
June is almost over and we have survived the smoke, wind and record breaking temperatures. The Niners have three new members: Debra Webster, Diane Blake and Wanda Baxter.

A fun story to share about an amazing day on the golf course. On June 1st, Lori Prescott was 119 yards out on hole number 15 at Pinewood Country Club, a par four. She hit her Callaway X Hot six iron and watched, along with her playing partners, Linda Swindell and Gina Burton, as well as a spectator, Mark King, as the ball hit on the green and rolled about 40 feet and dropped right into the center of the hole for an eagle two on the par four. She then followed it up with an amazing birdie on hole number 17, a very difficult hole.

The Niners have had two plays of the day since the last article. They are as follows:

Guardrails. You see them all the time, right? But, how often do you really think about the important job they’re performing?

If your answer is “never,” that’s perfectly fine and, quite frankly, it’s what we expected, because who sits around contemplating guardrails?

But guardrails really do perform a vital task, which is to separate vehicles from a non-traversable slope past the edge of the roadway or any type of fixed object (think power pole or building). They’re also the topic of this blog post, so hopefully your interest in guardrails is now sufficiently piqued!

How they work

First, there are different types of barrier out on the state’s roads, but what you see on many highways (and what we’re talking about here) is the w-beam guardrail that is secured to wooden posts. Fun fact: It’s called a w-beam because if turned on its side it looks like a W.

When the guardrail is hit by a vehicle, the posts move back and rotate with the force of the vehicle. The wooden posts, the w-beam, the dirt and the vehicle all absorb some of the impact, but the idea is that the w-beam will stay intact and prevent the vehicle from traveling off the side of the road into whatever obstacle the guardrail is there to protect you from.

The energy of the impact is distributed to many of the posts, which are able to hold the w-beam against the vehicle, allowing the vehicle to come to a stop without crossing the barrier or flipping over it.

We don’t use them unless we have to Guardrails are only used when necessary. If a road can be built to avoid the need for guardrail, that’s typically the way to go. But it’s not always possible.

We won’t get too technical, but engineers do have calculations for determining whether or not to use guardrail that take into account speed, traffic volume and the amount of clear area that there needs to be.

If it is determined that guardrail is needed, engineers also have to figure out how much is necessary. The term “length of need” refers to the length of guardrail needed to shield the motorist from the potential hazard. Again, we’re not going to get technical here, but there’s a formula to calculate the length of need too.

But wait, there’s more!

If a guardrail is hit, there’s some maintenance involved. According ADOT Maintenance Superintendent Craig Cornwell, his crews are out there repairing guardrail hits just about every day.

He says the w-beam railing comes in sections (from 12.5 feet to 25 feet). “If a section is damaged, we replace that whole section,” said Cornwell, adding that the beams actually overlap and are connected to each other with eight bolts (there’s also a big bolt about 18 inches long that connects the beam to the wooden post.

On top of repairs, Cornwell says his crews perform routine maintenance on the guardrails, which includes regular inspections.

The Coconino County Board of Supervisors has enacted the Wildfire Defense Ordinance at Stage 1 fire restrictions for Coconino County to go into effect at 8 a.m. Wednesday, June 15. Restrictions will remain in effect until fire danger conditions subside.

“After we considered the recent (fire) events in Coconino County and Northern Arizona, as well as the increasingly dangerous fire conditions throughout the County, the Board has decided to take this necessary action,” said County Board of Supervisors Chair Lena Fowler. “Our Board felt the most prudent action was to implement Stage 1 fire restrictions to help remove this potential threat and avoid additional devastating wildfires in our communities.”

The following restrictions apply on County public lands, as well as private lands in the unincorporated areas of the County. During Stage 1, the only combustion, open fire, and campfire allowed are listed below:

1. By persons with a written permit from a proper governmental authority that specifically authorizes the prohibited act.
2. For personal use of cigarette or other tobacco smoking medium when inside an enclosed vehicle or building, or in a developed recreational site in an area that is free of combustible materials and vegetation.
3. For emergency repair of public utilities and railroads and other health and safety mitigation measures when operated by a public utility or railroad and implemented in accordance with an approved agency plan.
4. By any Federal, State or local officer or member of an organized rescue or firefighting entity in the performance of an official duty.
5. By persons whose OPEN FIRE is the result of a device fueled by liquid petroleum or LPG fuels that can be turned on and turned off (for example a gas grill) when used in an area that is free of combustible materials and vegetation.
6. By persons operating internal combustion engines in the course of mechanical or industrial operations that would produce open flames and sparks but containing appropriate spark arresting devices; those welding or operating acetylene or other torch with open flame in an area that is free of combustible materials and vegetation; and those using explosives with written permission of an authorized governmental agency.
7. By persons operating motorized vehicles off designated roads and trails.
8. By persons operating electric generators or pumps with an approved spark arresting device within an enclosed vehicle or building in an area that is free of combustible materials and vegetation.
9. Persons engaged in industrial and ranching operations where specific operations and mitigation measures are identified in an operating plan.
10. For cooking of food or for providing warmth for human beings in an area designated by a governmental authority specifically for that purpose; for example a CAMPFIRE or OPEN FIRE in an established campground with fire-hosting amenities (grill, fire ring).

Stage 1 fire restrictions do not affect recreational activities at County parks.

Citizens are reminded to use caution when smoking cigarettes outdoors and to completely extinguish them. The use of any machinery that may emit sparks, such as chainsaws and welding equipment should be used with caution during the high fire danger period. Be prepared and have fire extinguishing equipment readily available.

Residents and visitors are asked to use their best judgment when considering whether to engage in any activity that could spark a fire. Residents and visitors are reminded that they can be held legally responsible for causing any wildfire.

MPBA TREE PROJECT CONCLUDES WITH MEMORIAL PLAQUE INSTALLATION

The combined efforts of many folks who have participated in the Tree Memorial Project will come to a conclusion on Friday July 29, 2016, more than five full years after the program was launched to beautify Munds Park. Nearly 150 plaques have been handmade by MPBA members to identify those who contributed to the Memorial Tree Project. All plaques will be distributed to a tree during the ceremony held at Provident Partners Realty, 20 W. Pinewood Blvd at 10am on July 29th.

All those who purchased a plaques are invited to place their Memorial Plaque on the tree of their choice during the celebration. The Cedar Wood plaques have been painted with the names of the individual memorialized and then dipped in polyurethane to preserve the plaque. A rustic style wire will be attached to the top of each plaque so that it can be hung on a tree where it will remain as long as nature allows.

Memorial Trees are located across the golf course and on both sides of Pinewood Blvd from Fairway up to the Country Club. There are a dozen trees around Provident Partners Realty designated for the memorials as well as another forty trees all along Munds Ranch Road on the West side of I-17 along the RV Park and other businesses lining Munds Ranch Road.

The initial plan to line the entrances along the freeway had to be scrapped when ADOT failed to find a way to work with the group. In lieu of that plan, MPBA plans to spread wild flower seed this fall to replace the weeds that ADOT cultivated along the frontage roads and underpass. Fundraising efforts planned over the next year will be to plant flower seed and lay down gravel in some key areas at the entrance to improve the overall entrance appearance.

Mormon Fire Update:

Fire managers with the Coconino National Forest utilized two recent lightning-caused fires to benefit the landscape and maintain a healthy ecosystem by allowing fire to fulfill its natural role in the environment. The forest thrives on fires such as these that are low severity and creep across the forest floor. They reduce fuels and the risk of severe wildfire, create safer conditions for residents, the public and firefighters, and also restore wildlife habitat by stimulating understory vegetation growth.

The Mormon fire, Started May 15th by lightning, located approximately 6 miles east of Munds Park near Mormon Mountain. This low-intensity wildfire managed to achieve multiple benefits and objectives. Firefighters conducted burnout operations to facilitate where and how the fire moves through the landscape. Smoke became more noticeable, but was still much lighter than that of a severe wildfire. Fire managers closely monitored smoke impacts to communities.

The Mormon fire is not a prescribed burn. This wildfire was managed where needed and allowed to function as nature intended. This means it does not have a planned end date, but fire managers have carefully determined the perimeters within which the fires may run their natural course. Ultimately, fire will eventually treat portions, or all of, the land inside the perimeters.

Parable For The 4th of July
(author unknown)

Once, in the 1820’s, a little boy called Sam was playing in the yard behind his house. During his pretend fighting game, he knocked over the outhouse.

Now Sam was upset and worried that he would get into trouble so he ran into the woods and didn’t come out until after got dark. When he arrived back home, his pappy was waiting for him. He asked suspiciously, “Son, did you knock over the outhouse this afternoon?”

“No, pappy,” Sam lied.

“Well, let me tell you a story,” said the father. “Once, not that long ago, Mr. Washington received a shiny new ax from his father. Excited, he tried it out on a tree, swiftly cutting it down.

But as he looked at the tree, with dismay he realized it was his mother’s favorite cherry tree,” his pappy paused, “just like you, he ran into the woods.” When he returned, his pappy father spanked Sam boy red, white, and blue. The boy whimpered, “Pappy, I told you the truth! Why did you spank me?”

Pappy answered, “That’s because George Washington’s father wasn’t in the tree when he chopped it down!”

John Adams
2nd U.S. President and Signer of the Declaration of Independence

“The general principles on which the fathers achieved independence were the general principles of Christianity. I will avow that I then believed, and now believe, that those general principles of Christianity are as eternal and immutable as the existence and attributes of God.”

Psalm 33:12 “Blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD, the people he chose for his inheritance.”

Honest with me, you are spared from punishment. I hope you have learned your lesson, though. “So,” the Sam’s father asked again, “did you knock down the outhouse?”

“Pappy, I cannot tell a lie any more,” said the little boy. “I did indeed knock down the outhouse.”

Then his pappy father spanked Sam boy red, white, and blue. The boy whimpered, “Pappy, I told you the truth! Why did you spank me?”

Pappy answered, “That’s because George Washington’s father wasn’t in the tree when he chopped it down!”

You and your family are cordially invited to join us every third Thursday at 6:30 pm for an “Evening of Prayer and Worship.”
